The Foodbank of the Virginia Peninsula is a charitable organization that receives, inventories, and distributes food and grocery products to charitable agencies that directly help the needy.

Since our inception in 1986, the Foodbank of the Virginia Peninsula has distributed over 130.9 million pounds of food to our neighbors in the community. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 2013, the Foodbank distributed 9.9 million pounds of food—the equivalent of 8.2 million meals.
According to the Food Research and Action Center, hunger is a condition of poverty. Living below the poverty line puts tremendous strain on a household budget, adversely affecting the ability to purchase a nutritionally adequate diet. In fact, government surveys show that as income goes down, the nutritional adequacy of the household diet goes down as well.

In North Hampton Roads, we are seeing more and more families than ever struggling to put good, nutritious food on their tables. More seniors are making the difficult choice of buying their medications or buying groceries, and sadly, more than one out of seven of our community’s children goes to bed suffering from food insecurity. Not having enough to eat goes much deeper than simply missing a meal. Hunger can lead to hopelessness and good nutrition often takes a backseat, as one focuses on just getting by.

This past fiscal year, Feeding America (the leading domestic hunger relief organization of which the Foodbank is a member) released a study called Map the Meal Gap. This study put a picture on hunger for each region, and the statistics were alarming. The area served by the Foodbank of the Virginia Peninsula has the highest food insecurity rate of any foodbank in the Commonwealth of Virginia, 14.1%. This number represents almost 75,000 individuals who may go without the most basic of human needs - food.

While these statistics are high, what they tell us here at the Foodbank is that we must continue to work harder to do more for the community. In my first year as Chief Executive Officer at the Foodbank, I have been witness to an organization that continues to get the job done, making sure good food doesn’t go to waste while people are hungry. However, there is much work yet to be done in order to continue to meet the needs of those less fortunate.

The Foodbank of the Virginia Peninsula will continue to fight hunger in our community. With the tireless efforts of the dedicated volunteers, staff, Board and agency partners, we will continue to make a difference in the lives of many.

Karen L. Joyner
Chief Executive Officer

THOSE WHO CAN, DO.
THOSE WHO CAN DO MORE, VOLUNTEER.

Thank you volunteers. We could not do it without you!
YOU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE
GIVE MONEY
It’s because of the donations from many individuals and businesses that we can build a hunger-free community. Unrestricted monetary gifts allow the Foodbank to respond to the needs of individuals across our service area quickly. Did you know that the Foodbank of the Virginia Peninsula has a 97 percent efficiency rating? That means that 97 percent of all resources entrusted to us go back to programs and food distribution. To donate, visit www.hrfoodbank.org or call 757.596.7188.

GIVE TIME
Volunteers play an important role in building hunger-free communities. Our volunteers do everything from working at the Foodbank facility and at USDA distribution sites, to special fundraising events. Without the help of volunteers, the Foodbank would not be able to provide food and hope to the many hungry families struggling in our community. We can find a match that works for your schedule and interests. Visit www.hrfoodbank.org/volunteer or call 757.596.7188 to signup.

GIVE FOOD
Food donors come in all shapes and sizes. We have large corporations and retailers, schools and individuals who donate nutritious food throughout the year. The food that is donated by food donors oftentimes stays right in their own community, helping their friends and neighbors. We receive all types of donations including fresh fruits and vegetables, protein and canned goods. Interested in being a food donor? Visit www.hrfoodbank.org or call 757.596.7188.
